The Challenge is under way!

The 2010 Commuter Challenge kicked off April 5 and hundreds of Twin Cities residents and workers have already pledged to start – and continue – making new transportation choices that are healthier for the pocketbook, the environment and themselves. If you haven't pledged yet this year, please visit mycommuterchallenge.org to be entered to win great prizes.

Extending your challenge

Whether you ride a bicycle or a bus, a Northstar train or light rail, walk, telework or carpool – just track these trips online for a chance to win more prizes. Every week through June 27, you are entered to win a $50 Target Gift Card when you track trips in the online calendar. Every choice counts except driving alone, plus, you can watch how much gas you're saving and how much you're reducing your carbon footprint, too.

Click here to track trips and extend your challenge (Note: if you were in the Bike2Benefits program, your username and password are the same).

Living Green Expo: May 1 & 2

Living Green Expo is a free, family-friendly event that inspires people to lead healthier and more sustainable lives with more than 250 exhibits, demonstrations and seminars. The Expo is held at the Grandstand at the State Fairgrounds. You can extend your challenge to the Expo FREE on Metro Transit buses and light-rail trains with a downloadable Go Greener Pass. Visit livinggreenexpo.mn for more information.

Take me out to the ball game

The new Target Field in downtown Minneapolis is served by a number of travel options for Twins fans – it's one of the most multi-modal ballparks in the country. The location is served by light rail and many bus routes as well as the Northstar Line. It has hundreds of spaces for bicycle parking and is connected to the extensive downtown Minneapolis skyway network. Learn how to extend your challenge to Target Field.

A new metrotransit.org

Metro Transit is unveiling a completely redesigned web site – making it easier than ever to navigate travel options in the Twin Cities. A sneak peek at the new site is available here.
