Reading a schedule: a step-by-step guide

1. Find the schedule for the day of the week and the direction you plan to travel.
2. Look at the map and find the times at your trip start and end points. Your trip may be between transport stops.
3. Read down the columns to see what time a bus will depart from a given trip point. Read across to see when the trip will reach another trip point. If the time is listed, that trip does not serve that trip point.

Not all stops are shown on this timetable.

Use the timetables on the map and the schedule to estimate the arrival of your bus. For details, call Transit Information or use our interactive map and trip planning tool at metrotransit.org
